TOTAL POPULATION, INCREASE, AND DISTRIBUTION.

Population of the state.—Washington was organized as a territory in 1853 and was admitted to the Union as the forty-second state in 1889. According to the Fourteenth Census, taken as of January 1, 1920, its population is 1,356,621, which represents an increase of 214,631, or 18.8 per cent, over the population in 1910. During the same period the population of the United States increased by 14.9 per cent. The following summary shows the population of Washington from 1860 to 1920, inclusive, with the number and per cent of increase for each decade, in comparison with the per cent of increase for the United States:

Counties.—Washington has 39 counties, of which 14 show decreases as compared with 1910. (See Table 1.) Because of the organization of Pend Oreille County from a part of Stevens County in 1911, it has been necessary, in preparing the maps on page 3, showing rates of increase or decrease in total and rural population, to combine these two counties. No annexations of territory were made during the decade.

Density of population.—The total land area of the state is 66,836 square miles. The average number of inhabitants to the square mile in 1920 is 20.3 (see Table 1), as against 17.1 in 1910 and 7.8 in 1900.

Minor civil divisions.—The political units into which the counties are divided are collectively termed "minor civil divisions." The 39 counties of Washington are made up of 1,563 primary divisions, comprising

1,461 election precincts, 82 townships, 8 cities, and 12 towns. Population figures are presented for these primary divisions so far as reported separately, but 1 township (8 N., R. 3 E., in Cowlitz County), for which no population was returned, does not appear in the table. There are also 190 secondary divisions, comprising 61 cities and 129 towns. Each of 35 cities and 38 towns is coextensive with the election precinct in which located, and each of 17 cities and 29 towns comprises 2 or more precincts or parts of precincts. Besides these primary and secondary divisions there are 15 Indian reservations, 1 navy yard, 1 national park, and a tract of unsurveyed land, not located in any precinct or township, for which population is returned. The Indian reservations, though independent of the county organizations, have been considered, for census purposes, as forming parts of the counties in which they are located. (See Table 2.)

Cities.—Washington has 69 cities, of which Seattle, with a population of 315,312, is the largest. Spokane, with 104,437, and Tacoma, with 96,965, are the only remaining cities having more than 50,000 inhabitants.

(See Tables 3 and 4.)

The following summary shows, for each city having 15,000 or more inhabitants in 1920, the population at each census for which figures are available, together with the number and per cent of increase during the preceding decade:

Urban and rural population.—The Census Bureau defines urban population as that residing in cities and other incorporated places having 2,500 inhabitants or more, and rural population as that residing outside such incorporated places.

The following summary presents, for the last three censuses, figures showing the urban and rural population of the state distributed among places grouped according to specified limits of population. The classification for each census is based upon the population of the various places as shown by the returns of that census. Consequently the territory comprised within any one class of cities or that designated as urban or as rural does not remain fixed, because any given place may, through the growth or the decline of its population, pass from one class to another at successive censuses. The proportion of the population of Washington living in places of 2,500 or more increased from 40.8 per cent in 1900 to 53 per cent in 1910 and to 55.2 per cent in 1920.

TABLE 1.—AREA AND POPULATION OF COUNTIES: 1860 TO 1920.

[In computing the increase from 1890 to 1900 for certain counties the population of Indian reservations in 1890 has been deducted from the total population of the county in order to make it comparable with the total for 1890, which does not include the population of Indian reservations. The population thus deducted in the several counties was as follows: Clallam, 417; Grays Harbor, 193; Jefferson, 35; King, 149; Kitsap, 133; Okanogan, 721; Skagit, 275; Snohomish, 468; Stevens, 589; Whatcom, 359; Yakima, 2,219.]
